DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, the next to the last line, the claim introduces "a sub panel"; however, "at least one sub panel" was already introduced in line 3. It is not clear if this "sub panel" is the same or a different sub panel. If it is the same "sub panel", it needs to be preceded with "the" or "said".

In claim 3, the next to the last line, the claim introduces "a score line"; however, "at least one sub panel" was already introduced in line 2. It is not clear if this "score line" is the same or a different score line. If it is the same "score line", it needs to be preceded with "the" or "said".

Clarification and correction are required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Patent #6,536,162 to LaMAY. LaMAY discloses the use of a decoration panel including a main panel (37) having a plurality of holes first holes (51) aligned along an upper and a lower vertical portion thereof, at least one sub panel (48) having a front cover (F) and a plurality of second holes (45) on a rear thereof, and at least a joiner (38) engaged through the second holes (45) into the first holes (51) to join the sub panel (48) to the main panel (37) such that the length of the decoration panel is selectively adjustable.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US Patent #6,536,162 to LaMAY. LaMAY discloses the basic claimed invention except for the inclusion of score lines. Although LaMAY does not detail the use of score lines, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the structure with score lines in order to facilitate cutting or positioning thereof. Score lines are old and very well known in the art for providing an ease of positioning an cutting.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2 and 4 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
